RESTAURANT ROUNDUP

New York
Comedy

Resident's staff has scavenged the city and here you have it: some of our favorite restaurants for this fall. Whether you crave a simple cheeseburger, a luxurious steak dinner with the boys, or a boozy ladies' brunch, we have the spot for you. Food, glamour and a range of cuisines, this list still makes our mouths water.

IVY

Ivy
944 Eighth Ave.
212.459.9444
ivybarnyc.com

A perfect gathering spot for lunch, happy hour or a casual dinner, Ivy is Hell's Kitchen's latest bistro. It serves classic fare in a lively and casual setting. Exposed brick walls line the sprawling bar and dining area that serves crowd-pleasing bar food favorites such as a chicken banh mi, spiced tuna tartar with avocado, steakhouse spring rolls, lobster tacos, spiced chipotle burgers as well as dinner entrees such as pan seared sea scallops and hanger steak. Also a great weekend brunch destination, the Ivy serves up classics like red velvet pancakes, eggs benedict or Pat La Frieda burgers (which can be upgraded to the $30 prix fixe option that includes unlimited red or yellow bloody marys, mimosas or bellinis). Ivy gives new meaning to a boozy brunch!
